

POST-BACCALAUREATE PROGRAMS

A post-baccalaureate program—or post-bacc—is a program completed after graduation from college. Students can enroll in a post-baccalaureate program to complete a second undergraduate degree, to complete prerequisite courses for admission into graduate programs, or to attain an initial teaching certificate. Most post-baccalaureate programs take one to two years to complete.