Political science is the study of government and politics. The Political Science Minor is divided into three areas: a required introductory course; distribution courses selected from American government, politics, and public law courses, International Relations and Comparative Government courses, and Political Theory; and elective courses. The program offers a variety of courses in each of these areas.

Students gain an understanding of government and politics through a combination of directed reading and writing exercises. A minor in Political Science may help students to prepare for an array of career options in both the public and private sectors.
